Late Tuesday evening, March 31, 2020, the New York State Workers' Compensation Board released new guidance on how to handle prior authorization requests.

Non-Pharmacy Prior Authorization Requests

Non-pharmacy prior authorization requests should be sent to the carrier or administrator's designated email found on the Board's website. Since many individuals are now working remotely, faxes may not be receiving timely follow-up. The Board also noted that fax documents should be forwarded to the insurance carrier's designated email contact to ensure that requests are being processed.

Pharmacy-Related Prior Authorization Requests

Pharmacy-related prior authorization requests for non-formulary medications should still be submitted using the medical portal. Any requests that are not handled in the appropriate time frame are subject to review and an Order of the Chair to mitigate the delay. Administrators using the portal should ensure that the proper emails are entered into the system to prevent any routing delays.

The Board also noted that the drug formulary rules and authorization process have not changed. Carriers and employers should be adhering to the formulary guidelines and not implementing stricter formulary requirements or changing the prior authorization requirements related to formulary medications. The Board is monitoring authorization requests in the portal and deviations from the rules could result in administrative fines.
